It is a dream of many to sail through the Panama Canal. This man made marvel is one of the largest and most difficult engineering projects ever undertaken. The 48 mile ship canal opened in 1914, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Ocean and has had an enormous impact on shipping between the two oceans, replacing the long and treacherous route via the Drake Passage and Cape Horn at the tip of South America.

Not only will this itinerary attract those that have not been through the canal it will also entice others because many of the ports of call are very unique.

At only 55,000 tons the Statendam is the perfect, intimate size for this once in a lifetime cruise.

Our 2010 Walters Family and Dave MacDonald departure attracted 500 passengers and sold out in record time so don't wait long to make your reservation for this Panama Sailing. We have many private functions planned on board especially for this group. Hope you'll join us!

tour itinerary

Your journey will start on November 24th when you meet your fellow passengers at Toronto Airport. We'll be flying to Los Angeles, California – the City of Angels. Keep your eyes open for some Movie Stars because we are taking you on a coach tour of Hollywood after we arrive. Later we'll check in to the beautiful Hilton of Woodland Hills for an overnight stay. Join us tonight in the ballroom for our Gala Welcome Dinner.

Tomorrow we look forward to wishing you a Good Morning as you enjoy a bountiful breakfast buffet. We'll then board our coaches en route to San Diego where the staff of Holland America's Statendam awaits our arrival. Enjoy lunch on board and take some time to explore this ship your home for the next 14 nights.

PORT NOTES:

CO Cruising Only, ON Overnight, TR Tender Required

I am very excited about this wonderful itinerary. I have sailed through the Panama Canal many times, it truly is an amazing experience and is definitely the highlight of this journey. Many of you will be on deck very early in the morning when we start our canal transit. It's not unusual to see wildlife and you'll see and hear many tropical birds. When you look over the cruise itinerary you will see that our ports of call are very unique with stops at smaller ports in Mexico and Guatemala. We'll even visit historic Cartagena, Columbia. The wonderful thing about being on a cruise ship for a couple of weeks is you have a number of seas days to relax and enjoy many activities on board. The Statendam staff will treat you like family and you'll have many opportunities to mingle with The Walters Family and Dave MacDonald!
